AND COLORFUL Events

Preface . . .

Our high school days are probably the most wonderful and enjoyable of our entire lives. We share our hopes, our sorrows, and our achievements. We work and study together to learn how and why so that we may become adjusted to everyday living. Our social life also plays an important part in this business of becoming mature. Between us is tied an intangible knot which can never be severed. To record these living activities we use this book, the Cestrian. Within its covers vibrate our memorable days in Chester High School. We, the Class of 1957, hope that we have left an enviable record in scholarship, character, leadership, and service. In future years we can leaf through these pages and relive the time when we played pranks, cut capers, and bruised our bumps. We can never forget these days; for they are imbued in our minds with a lasting impression. This book holds the sweet memories which we value so deeply. With the wonderful cooperation of every senior and Miss West's invaluable service to the staff, this book has been published. May it be a living symbol of our days in Chester High School.

Sincerely,
Harold Sharpe, Editor

Dedication

THE SENIORS SALUTE MOTHER AND DAD

We, the Seniors, wish to express our love and gratitude to our mothers and fathers. We wish it were possible to list each of you separately both by name and picture. But far more important is the fact that you are engraved individually, much more deeply in our hearts. There is never a way that we can say adequately, "Thank you, Mother and Dad, for all you have done." Our sincerest hope is that all of us will do our level best to measure up to what you expect of us. If we can do this, then we know that you will be as proud of us as we are of you.

As we enter adulthood and go our separate ways, your love, guidance, and inspiration will be the bulwark of our strength in facing the tasks that lie ahead. Thus, we the graduating class, do proudly and gratefully pay tribute to you, our beloved parents, on this the dedication page of the 1957 Cestrian.

ADMINISTRATION

Our Administration Plans for Today and the Future . . .

On these pages we present those busy citizens who form the backbone of our schools. First, our Superintendent, Mr. Henry Lee Sneed, Jr., who works tirelessly for our welfare. Mr. Sneed is one of the busiest people we know, yet he always has time for a pleasant chat and friendly greeting for all of us. Our board chairman, Mr. Corkill, has given many years of devoted service to the public schools of Chester. He is the dean of board chairmen in South Carolina. Mr. Bankhead, the secretary to the board of trustees, is keenly interested in all of our youth activities. The other board members, Mr. A. T. Allen, Mr. James Caldwell, Mr. Don Murray, Mr. W. C. White, and Mr. R. H. Woods give many valuable hours of their time administering for our benefit and welfare.

Mr. James Caldwell, Mr. Carlisle White, Mr. Richard Woods, Mr. A. T. Allen.

Many are the Problems That Confront School People Today . . .

The problems that face these administrators today are many. Yet they work with cheerfulness and with vision, planning not only for the best for us today but also for the improvement of school curriculum and school standards. Better school plants and facilities, transportation, school policy, and means of challenging talented students are only a few of the important problems facing our school administrators of today. These thoughtful progressive business men want the best for us and for the students of tomorrow. Many of their problems will be ours to work with in the future. We are grateful to Mr. Sneed, to our County Board of Education and especially to our local board for their gracious service to us. We, the Senior Class, salute these men.

Miss Colvin, our biology instructor; Miss Chick, physics and chemistry teacher; Miss Bigham, our Math and global geography teacher; Mrs. Weir, librarian, and Mrs. Abell, science instructor, are really enjoying their hot coffee.

Hats Off To Our Teachers . . . We Think They Are Tops . . .

MR. MARION PRATT
Principal

We take great pleasure in telling you how much we appreciate the people you see on these pages. Our teachers are much more to us than merely instructors. Through their interest in us, their enthusiasm in all our activities, their thoughtful, sympathetic guidance, their constant urging us to do our best, they show daily their keen personal desire for our success. Oh yes, it's quite true that very often we really get "chewed out," but that's when we deserve it.

Any school day in Chester High we see numerous illustrations of excellent teacher-student relationship. There is a friendly informal comradeship evident in all phases of our school life. A large number of our teachers live here in Chester and have been teaching in our schools for many years. Among these are Miss Bighan, Miss Colvin, Miss Carroll, Miss West, Mrs. Carroll, Miss Chick, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Wylie, Mrs. Louise Crowder, Mrs. McLemore, Mrs. Scott, and Mrs. Davis. Miss McCord, Miss Bailey, Miss Tucker, although not living in Chester, have been with our schools many years. Others who have made Chester their home since teaching here are Mr. Pratt, Mr. Brown, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Haworth, Miss Johnson, Mr. Shealy, Mr. Black, Mrs. McCrorey, Miss Patrick, Mr. Boulware. Then in recent years Mrs. Lyles, Miss Nelson, Miss Smith, Mrs. Smoak, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Mary Crowder, Mrs. Abell, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Patrick, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Weir, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Heckle, Mrs. White, Mr. Mesinheimer, Mrs. Gardner, Mr. Clark, Mr. Rash, Mrs. Tuggle, Mrs. Thompson, and Mrs. Crosby have joined our faculty. We'd like very much to tell you how much we appreciate each of these teachers individually, but since that is impossible, we can say here on these pages that we proudly present to you Our Faculty.

CLASS HISTORY

Hello reader! How is your memory. "Pretty good" you say. Then how about joining me in a few fond remembrances of the glorious school days of the members of the Class of '57?

I suppose the best place to start is at the beginning. There are several important dates you will remember in the year nineteen-forty-five—D-Day, the sixth of June; V-J Day, the second of September and of course the most important of all, some might say, the third of September, the day school started. Yes, the future class of nineteen-fifty-seven entered school that day—ready, eager, and maybe a little frightened at the thought of being taken away from home almost five hours a day! We really had it hard in those days. How did we ever remember to spell house and horse differently. What was the difference anyway? Another tough one was learning that two plus two equals five or something like that, but we made it with flying colors.

Each succeeding grade was a little more difficult and required that we study longer and spend more time in school. As the years progressed, however, we became more and more proficient in this early training. We began to see in our lives outside of school the purpose of learning our lessons. Through our instruction in readin', writin', 'rithmetic, and reasoning we became of more use to our families and the community. While we were collecting and assimilating vital bits of factual knowledge in grammar school, there was also another great influence in our young and impressionable lives. Through the guidance of our teachers inside the classroom and out, we became partly aware of our responsibilities to society. In learning and playing with our classmates, we learned important lessons which will be remembered the rest of our lives. As someone once said, "A person spends the first third of his life learning how to live the remainder of it." We, the senior class of Chester High School, feel that we have learned this lesson.

The pages of the calendar were torn ruthlessly from their places as time went on. It seemed as if we graduated from the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades as soon as we entered them, and, at, last, in nineteen-fifty-one, we gathered at College Street School to finish the last half of our schooling with the real characteristics of a class. We were in high school! Well, junior high at least. My, what a thrill it was to visit our old grammar school alma maters and be looked up to by those "kids" in the sixth grade. Those certainly were glorious days! As we came of age, we began patronizing the Canteen. We adopted fads instantaneously. Blocked hair, turned up collars, blue suede shoes, and draped pants were all the rage. We probably looked pretty juvenile superficially, but our record proved differently. Many made the honor roll every time. We had many who demonstrated great athletic powers, and we held our own when it came to clothes, slang, and dancing fashions.

When we entered the eighth grade, we were finally allowed to enjoy the sacred sanctuary of the high school building. Although we spent only two years here, we grew to love its archaic traditions, cold classrooms, crowded halls, and countless stairs. We were thrilled to the spine by the fight songs, "Come On You Chester Boys," "We're From Chester High School," and of course that old favorite, "Give A Cheer, Give A Cheer For The Boys Who Make The Beer."

In the ninth grade we entered our formal four years of high school and had to give serious consideration to our choice of a life's work and we were given the opportunity to choose our respective courses of study.

Finally it came. We entered the tenth grade, a proud group for several reasons. One was that we were entering a grand, new super-structure which had been on the planning tables of our school officials for many years and had at last been completed. This, too, was the beginning of a new era in the education of the young people of Chester. Perhaps in our exuberance over entering this new building, we left some of the tradition and spirit behind us in the old building. Perhaps a few of the old dreams were disintegrated. But to us was given the golden opportunity to lay the foundation for a new set of customs and traditions, and a new invigorated spirit of Chester High School.

To many of us, the most cherished name we received was that of the Junior Class. In this, our eleventh year, we worked together as a unit under the direction of Miss Louise McCord on the Junior-Senior. We sold magazines, Christmas cards, and stationery to raise the money for this all-night extravaganza. Our junior year also brought many other joys — class rings, state-wide recognition for our athletic teams and players. We made great strides in choral and band development, also.

At this time, little by little we were making our mark on the history of Chester High School. Perhaps at the time we gave little thought to this, but nevertheless it was a fact.

Then, all at once we were seniors. Oddly enough there was no brass band on the lawn to welcome us to our last registration day at dear old C.H.S., and we didn't quite realize that we had indeed reached this long awaited station in life. As we attended our last pep meeting, football game, and basketball game, this boisterous group of friends who had laughed, loved, fought, played and studied its way through twelve years of schooling became a bit nostalgic as we realized that this wonderful period would be terminated in a few short months.

All in all, it has been quite a struggle, but for that matter, so is life. We have tasted victory and defeat and have learned to take them both in stride. As members of such a closely united group, we have developed our own social code and customs. We have participated in fads which disappeared as quickly as they began. We have repeated phrases such as "Go man go," "Cat" and "Ain't We?" with every other breath. We have gathered ritualistically at the Canteen, Mountain Lake and the "Grill" to discuss everything from dual glass pack mufflers to the world political situation. We will probably be remembered in the future as the generation of hot-rods, rock 'n roll fans and Elvis Presley worshippers.

If everything is taken into consideration, however, it must be conceded that we have contributed a fair share to the welfare of this community. The past twelve years have been eventful, to say the least. We have had more advantages than perhaps any preceding generation. The tomorrow that lies ahead promises to be even more exciting and wonderful than this, but it depends upon us.

If we can take hold of the reins of this new era with the same steadfastness and determination exemplified by our parents and teachers, and continue to deserve the grace that God has bestowed upon us during these early, formative years, we shall not fail.

STUDENT LIFE

We cheer our team for a touchdown.

Classroom Work, Sports, Activities

Together we work, study, and play—each of us building in his own way for the future. Our school offers to us a wide variety of courses from which we may choose. Our administration gives us the proper guidance for the selection of these courses. What we plan to do in the future determines to a great extent the courses we choose. Many of us who are going to college are doing our best to get a sound foundation in math, science and English; thus we take physics, trig, chemistry and four years of English.

Others who plan to enter the business world when they finish high school, major in the commerce department which offers them an excellent background for secretarial positions. Many of these students get good obs upon graduation. Other take their main courses in shopwork, textiles, and agriculture. In these vocational courses there is a wide variety of good practical training. In our high school even though a student majors in a shop course, he must have four units of English, one of math and two of social sciences to receive a diploma. Whatever the course, whatever the special subect, the interests and challenges are present. The acquiring of academic knowledge, the practice of "book knowledge," in actual work experiences, the learning to live together, to work together, to play together are all a part of our growth here in Chester High. This varied and interesting pattern of our school life is filled with color always, even though there are those dark and dreary exam days, which really aren't so grey, after all, if we are well prepared.

With the ringing of the 8:25 bell, hundreds of footsteps sound in the hallways as we make our way to our homerooms—gay chatter, eager voices, special personal conversation with the one and only, slamming of lockers, the putting away of wraps and getting set for the day—the special announcements — the quiet respectful pause for the daily devotion — then movement

Everywhere all day long during the regular school hours, hustle, bustle, work, and those few moments snatched for horse play and chit-chat. After the 3:05 bell, the closing of lockers again, the rush of feet towards buses, the sound of motors leaving the parking lot, the trip to the gym for basketball practice or the race to the open field for football, baseball, golf and tennis. The warm autumn air back of the high school is filled with voices – the coaches orders, players tackling, talking, running, kicking, blocking – from the band area the blare of a base horn, the boom of percussion instruments, the sound of flutes, trumpets – the incisive orders of Mr. Haworth – the final practice over – the mad scramble to put up instruments and dash away to another ob – on cool clear autumn mornings sleepy-eyed band members up at six o'clock and out on the open field for marching practice and fancy formations – the shrill whistle blow that wakes them up to step it off. During class time the main corridors are quiet with little movement. Now and then the sound of good laughter emanates from a class room, the voice of the movie-machine in the audio-visual aids room tells us an illustrated lesson is in progress there. Casting a glance into the library, we see heads buried in the daily news, dictionaries being perused, a group poring over reference books, another trio leafing through magazines, while other students are checking out material.

A long sigh of relief — the 12:35 bell rings— cafeteria time — how welcome that is — the eternal rush getting in line, those lucky home room sections whose turn is first — pleasant relaxation as we have our noon meal. Those lovely days when uicy hamburgers are on the menu, turkey, or salisbury steaks, fresh hot sponge cake, good salads. Food does help! The front grounds at recess filled with pleasant laughter, talk, and play — the feel of the fresh grass in the spring, the warm sunshine. Back to the fifth block at 1:20 — two more periods we go. imagination. The occasion no one ever forgets.

April that magic month not only because it's a riot of color with flowers blooming everywhere, birds singing, and the new delicate greenery of trees, but also because April means the seniors' big trip to Richmond, Williamsburg, Annopolis, and Washington. The old Seaboard station at the end of Wylie Street echoes with young shouts and laughter — cars jam the station yard — the eleven p.m. Comet roars in and off we go — five days of wonderful educational travel — five days no senior who is a part of this group will ever forget.

The warm lazy May days are here and a feeling of lassitude pervades the hall ways. But final exams, digging, digging, digging to catch up on all back work, to pull up those low grades, to keep those high ones where they should stay. Everybody works a little harder — that peculiar vague feeling that always comes at the end of a school year — a feeling both of gladness and sadness. This, too, is a part of life — a part of our growing up.

Some of us realize we've accomplished little— others have an inner quiet satisfaction of feeling their growth mentally, artistically and personally. To them each school day and each school year opens wider horizons to all. Our school offers this growth, that which builds for the best in our lives and for the best in citizenship. Thus each day that we live together, whereever we are in our school activities and whatever we are doing, we are building together — priceless experiences in our book of life.

THE CESTRIAN

Publishing a Yearbook Teaches Us Many Things . . .

Nicky, Helen Faye, Mary Alice, Carolyn, Betty Mac, Buck, Sibley, Jimmy, and Sara turning in Cestrian sales orders to Guy.

Jimmy, Frances, Janice, Jerry, Louis, Glenn, Bonnie, Frances Campbell, Joe, Eddie, Tommy, and Ralph casting critical eyes over picture selections for our book.

Pat, Peggy H., Joyce, our typing chief, Lois, Peggy, and Diane have all worked like forty to get material typed.

Johnny B., Billy, Johnny M., Jack, Ann, Jewel, and Sibley starting out on ad sale campaign.

Should you have an interview with either Harold Sharpe, Don McKeown, or Miss West, faculty advisor for the annual, you would discover that putting out a yearbook means much work in many different fields. The staff begins planning in August, before the opening of school, for many of the details of their work. Every effort is made to get a successful ad campaign across as early as possible. We all turn into super salesmen for this. Discussions for design, pictures, themes, and attractive layouts are all a part of our job. Almost the entire senior class has a part in carrying out the varied duties the staff has.

Countless hours outside our regular school day go into the making of this book. Oh yes, it's hard work but it's fun. We hope, too, that this yearbook will show to all who look through its pages, the daily life and activities of our high school. That is what the staff has tried to do and we hope you like our efforts.

Our Duties Are Varied And Interesting . . .

Harold Sharpe, our editor, Jean Brown Editor of the Cheraw yearbook, Luke Walters Editor of the Bearcat, Rock Hill High receiving congratulations from Miss Williamson on winning the South Carolina trophies for the best yearbooks in their respective classifications.

Wayne and Kathryn exclaiming pure delight over winning first place award in Southern Interscholastic Press Association on the '56 Cestrian at Lexington, Virginia.

SENIOR STUDENT COUNCIL

Our Leaders Throughout The Year . . .

The Senior High Student Council is, in effect, a system of student participation and representation. The members are elected by the student body of Chester Senior High School to vote on matters concerning them. It sponsors courtesy and religious emphasis weeks during the school year, and also projects such as student council handbooks and the school paper. A special project this year is to add shrubbery to our school grounds. We appoint special committees each school term to aid in hall and traffic duties. The Council is a member of State and National Associations of Student Councils.

Our large club has made a number of trips away from the usual classroom gatherings. On the spot study of leaves, seeds, fruits, trees, frogs, and birds in nearby ponds and woods has been unusually fruitful for us. The trip to the Nature Museum in Rock Hill was a highlight of our adventures. As a result of our activities, we have gained a better knowledge and appreciation of plant and animal life about us.

F.B.L.A.

First-Class Secretaries In The Making . .

The Chester Chapter of F.B.L.A., Chapter No. 713, is four years old. We have various types of programs ranging from our very business-like meetings to the semi-annual fun nights at the state park.

We feel that the club can promote a better business training activity if we create a better understanding in public relations between the student, teacher, business employers, and employees.

Our state slogan is, "Having high ideals is good but using them is better."

JUNIOR J.H.A.

A Live Wire Never Gets Stepped On . . .

Brenda Bumgarner, Mrs. Mary Long, Judy Burnside, Delores Roof, Glenda Bickett, Mazie Wessinger.

The Junior Homemakers Association is a state chartered organization. The 62 members of the Chester Jr. J.H.A. are girls who are enrolled in 9th grade home economics. Throughout the year some of the outstanding activities of this organization are leadership training workshop, the annual State J.H.A. meeting during the State Fair Week, district contest, district meetings, and the State convention in April. Probably the most outstanding activity is the week spent at the J.H.A. camp held at Ocean Drive each summer. We believe in our motto, "A Live Wire Never Gets Stepped On."

The Myron E. Brockman Club of Future Teachers of Chester was organized in 1949 and has received a gold seal every year except one.

The club meets once a month during the activity period. Representatives, with one of our sponsors, attended the district meeting at Lancaster and the state convention at Newberry College. Our members do not regularly substitute, but when a teacher has to be absent from his class for a few periods, frequently a Future Teacher holds his class.

Once a year arrangements are made for our members to observe in one of the elementary schools and in this way see teachers of other grades in action. During "Vocation Week" a visiting teacher comes and presents the teaching profession to our members.

MIXED CHORUS

With Joyous Ecstacy We Sing Together . . .

Martha, Don, Kathy, Lunette

The Mixed Chorus is one of the best loved organizations in our high school. You can tell this by the sound of the choral group at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and from just listening in on a rehearsal.

The group, composed of boys and girls from grades ten through twelve, goes to Winthrop each fall for the Music Clinic. This proves to be most informative as well as entertaining. The chorus also helps with assembly programs.

The old saying, "Music makes the world go 'round," is certainly proved in Chester High's Mixed Chorus.

Our Junior Red Cross Council was organized for the first time this year. We have already sponsored several interesting projects, such as collections of Junior Red Cross dues, special gifts, and favors for the ill and disabled, gift boxes for children overseas. These services are a happy pleasure for us and we feel that we are gaining good training for adult social responsibilities.

We have thoroughly enjoyed our activities in both ceramics and art. Some of us have fashioned costume jewelry, flower holders, plaques, and vases in unusual and interesting designs and colors. Others have given vent to their imagination on canvas and cardboard with their paint brushes. Still life studies and a few line models have provided inspiration for our budding artists. We have had a good time along with learning a great deal.

SENIOR LIBRARY CLUB

We Aid The Librarian In Her Work . . .

The Library Club is a service club. Each member must work a minimum of three blocks a week in the library. Most students know the members at the desk – checking in or out books – or helping to find material for class or a good book to read. Perhaps some few recognize them as they deliver overdue notices. There are many other duties performed in the library.

Magazines are mended and bound; pictures are clipped and mounted; new books are processed for circulation; cards are typed for the catalog in order for students and teachers to locate information; films and filmstrips are shown and kept in order; pamphlets are put in durable covers; and magazines are kept in order on the shelves so they are easy to find; windows and bulletin boards are dressed that students may know the resources of the library; book lists are compiled on various subjects; reserve materials are collected for teachers or groups; these and many other things are done by the members of the Library Club. No two days are alike.

Once a month the group meets in the club dining room to transact business, enjoy programs on books and library activities, and have a social session together. Twice a year representatives attend a district meeting and once a year a state meeting of the South Carolina High School Library Association with which the local club is affiliated.

GIRLS' BLOCK C CLUB

These Wearers Of The C Are Always On The Move . . .

Through the activities of the Girls' Block "C" Club, girls athletics at Chester High School moved from the sidelines to the center ring. In addition to participation in games, the girls sold programs, season tickets, pencils, planned attractive monthly meetings and on all occasions boosted athletic morale.

Some of our members attended summer camp at Myrtle Beach. Some went on trips to judge cattle, hogs, land, sheep and poultry. Others to the state convention, held at Clemson.

Our members conduct projects in crops, livestock, gardening, home grounds and farm improvement. We strive to increase interest in rural life, the great future it contains, and the freedom in being your own foreman, boss, or manager.

SCHOOL CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER—It is the fall of the year again . . . back we come to the familiar hall of Chester High . . . What a wonderful sight! . . . We meet friends we have not seen all summer . . . We begin classes the next week . . . WOW! . . . Never thought it could be so tough to settle down again . . . Then comes that first ball game . . . What a thriller! . . . Had election of Student Council officers . . . Many class meetings going on . . . Some seniors are seen in a huddle, and the question they are asking can very well be guessed . . . What can we ask for senior privileges? . . . Then comes the excitement of the second ball game . . . Chester comes out in front, beating Lancaster 27-13 . . . Don McKeown, Harold Sharpe, and Miss West begin digging on the Cestrian material . . . The Rotary Club sponsors a Good-Sportsmanship award to the opponent of Chester that displays the best sportsmanship . . . Comes the first home game with Chester playing Greenwood . . . This was a good one although Chester lost 12-6 . . . A big dance is held afterwards . . . Plans are begun to make pictures . . . Seniors meet to decide type of dress to wear for pictures . . . Last game of the month is played against Clinton . . . Chester again victorious, with a score of 13-0 . . . All the spectators will pleased with our boys' playing, and their good sportsmanship.

OCTOBER—This month begins with a bang! . . . The first week the fair is in town . . . School closed early that day . . . Then came the Miss Chester County beauty contest . . . What a nervewrecker! . . . Carousel princess is elected by students . . . Who is it? . . . Sibley Robertson . . . The Cyclones are the victors over York . . . School pictures are made . . . Never dreamed the boys could look so good! . . . There were really some sharp looking gents around school . . . Game with Union . . . Cyclones whizzed by with a score of 27-7 . . . Great game! . . . In a very impressive ceremony in chapel, the student council officers were installed . . . Mrs. Moore and the mixed chorus offered appropriate music for the occasion . . . Once again Miss West asks "Clubs please hand in page size and list of activities to Harold Sharpe Tuesday." . . . Club meetings everywhere! . . . Collection of money made in classes and in the halls . . . Each homeroom elects a Junior Red Cross chairman to meet with Lunette Anderson, Junior Red Cross Representative . . . Lower classmen receive their pictures . . . "Let me see yours, please" is a favorite expression for two or three days after . . . Seniors will have to wait a few weeks for theirs . . . The Future Teachers of America officers and members are installed . . . An informative talk given by Mrs. C. W. Brice . . . Shortly after this assembly, the first in a series of three polio shots is given.

NOVEMBER—Amid the many class meetings, the seniors pick the class flower, motto and class colors . . . About forty students attend the music clinic in Rock Hill . . . Dedication for Cestrian is voted on and decided . . . Senior superlatives are announced . . . Honor Society officers and members installed . . . Chester bows to Sumter, 13-7 . . . Long awaited senior pictures arrive . . . Gee! . . . There were really some good ones to be seen . . . Lunette is elected Miss Hi Miss . . . Senior informals are made . . . Broxie Nelson wins "I Speak For Democracy" contest . . . Our own Coach Wilson is to be assistant coach at the Shrine Bowl game . . . Ralph Burnett and Wayne Sullivan will represent us on the South Carolina team . . . Honor Society collects records for Thanksgiving and orders their jewelry . . . Sibley is off to Charlotte for the big events of the Carrousel . . . Student Council orders pins . . . Hurrah! Finally . . . Thanksgiving holidays! . . . Parades to welcome Santa Claus . . . Band marches galore . . . "Oh, my aching feet!" . . . Back to the old grind! . . . Report cards again come out . . . Some sad faces seen . . . Faculty-student game held . . . Big thriller! . . . Second polio shot given.

DECEMBER—First basketball game of the season . . . Cyclones starting out on the right foot with a close victory! . . . Don McKeown is elected "King Teen" . . . Miss Nancy Carroll named Demolay Teacher of the year . . . Also, Mrs. McLemore and Rev. Holroyd given Demolay "Hats Off Award" for their service to the community . . . Underclassmen begin paying for those memory-filled Cestrians . . . Students are getting restless as the holidays near . . . Mrs. Moore and chorus having practices right and left . . . and what a performance is given! . . . The program begins as the chorus sings "Angels From the Realms Of Glory" as a processional . . . Everyone enjoys the music department's beautiful Christmas gift—glorious music! . . . December 20th comes and school closes at 2:00 to begin the traditional Christmas holidays . . . Dances and parties are in the making . . . Students are working in all the department stores . . . Just look in the door to see whomever you wish . . . Everyone has a joyous Christmas . . . Holidays are over and game between the alumni and alumnae and the Cyclones and Cyclonettes proved to be full of excitement . . . A fine close to the spirited season . . . And here comes the new year . . . 1957!

JANUARY—Back to school . . . Settle down to hard studying once more . . . Big exams coming up . . . Many students suddenly becoming studious . . . Wham! Exams are here . . . Seniors wishing they could be exempt from exams . . . Many wish they had studied just a wee bit more . . . More basketball, both wins and losses . . . Cestrian Staff works like mad to make deadline . . . Faculty begins exam admonitions . . . The bleak black days are here . . . Study, study, review, review . . . How we all wish we were brilliant with perfect memories . . . Oh well, a sigh of relief after the 19th . . . They're over . . . Then those fatal semester averages on the little yellow cards . . . Film resolves to study hard the last half of our school year.

COMING EVENTS—As we look over the past months, many of us realize the fun and frolic that has been ours . . . We look ahead with sadness and anticipation to the coming months that will be filled with times of fun . . . and a few tears . . . Valentine will be a joyous occasion for everyone . . . Selections for the Senior Play . . . Long hours of practice for it . . . A good performance, we hope! . . . Easter comes with brilliant colors of the new outfits . . . Juniors begin preparations for the "Biggest Junior-Senior yet! . . . So they say!!! At long last . . . The senior trip to Washington . . . What fun! Juniors are lost without the ever-reigning seniors . . . We return just in time for second semester exams.

Our days as seniors are slowly passing away . . . Senior Week is full of fun . . . The Commencement Sermon . . . It's Here!!! Class Day program the best yet (we hope) . . . Then graduation! . . . The dignified processional to the stage . . . Tears may be seen slowly falling down a few cheeks . . . This is our last day . . . We suddenly realize the importance of our Alma Mater . . . We receive our diplomas with a very proud air . . . and hope that we will live up to the lessons taught us . . . There is an atmosphere of finality about us as we hold our diplomas in our hands . . . At last one dream realized, but a greater one still lies ahead.

FOOTBALL

We Enjoy Another Good Gridiron Year . . .

As the first game of the '56 season approached for the Chester Red Cyclones, hopes of winning more games than in the previous year, which had set forth a dazzling 11-1 record, began to fade. The reasons for this view were the Cyclones' opponents were more powerful than ever and that, outside of the first team, there was nothing but question marks.

However, with twelve lettermen returning to run from the split 'T' formation, the highly potent Cyclones couldn't be slowed down until the last few games of the season. They concluded with an 8-3 record against one of our toughest schedules which contained six 'AA' and five powerful class 'A' schools. Chester's action against such tough opponents brought state-wide attention to our team, which was ranked fifth among South Carolina football powers and remained among the top ten squads during the entire season.

Coach "Ears" Wilson, for the third consecutive year, coached his charges to a highly successful year. This squad was not made up of only one outstanding player but of many capable and spirited men, all sharing the limelight on long runs, nicely executed pass plays, bone-rattling tackling, and blocking.

The Cyclones scored 171 points compared to their opponents' 89 and ground out a record number of yards gained rushing. These statistics show the hard work and team co-operation that has been a key factor in the Cyclones' victories. The losses have been few compared to the experience and recognition gained.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The Cyclonettes Begin Another Good Season . . .

MRS. SARA McLEMORE . . . . . Coach

The 1956 District Champion Cyclonettes and runner-ups for the Upper State have started their 1957 season with three wins and two losses; yet they declare that they plan to remove that status quo—one point from champions—to state championship.

Only two of last year's first stringers, Co-Captains Lunette Anderson and Sarah McLemore, are with the squad, the Cyclonettes having lost four of last year's starters by way of graduation. However, the "stringers" are shaping up nicely, and the offense promises greater strength as the season progresses.

Though weak on experience the team is strong on morals and with their philosophy of sportsmanship, they are bound to go far. In a game of ball they ask but a field that is fair—a chance that is equal for all. When they win, you may be sure it will be by "the code with their honor held high." When they lose they will have no alibis but only congratulations for the winners. First, last, and always the cry will be "Let's go-O-O-O, Chester!"

Coach Misenheimer and Managers Jimmy Brantley, Bobby Threat.

Chester High Boy's Basketball team, district 4's defending champions, are off to what some may call the best start of a Chester boy's basketball team in history, having won three games and lost two. They have defeated Great Falls, 54-52; Lewisville 51-38 and Winnsboro 62-58. Winthrop Training School defeated them 55-48 in a very exciting contest and also Lewisville won over the Cyclones by a margin of 62-58. In the Christmas Tournament at Lewisville, Chester advanced to the finals by defeating Lewisville by a score of 63-48. Chester met Rock Hill in the finals and Rock Hill, having the advantage in height, won the game by a score of 65-51. The next game was against Great Falls and the score was ____.

The Chester boys back from last year's district champs are Carroll Thompson, Joe McCormick, Bill Shannon, Carol Fields, Stuart Duncan, Glenn "Flop" Lawson, "Duck" Mobly, Norman Flynn and Devon Martin.

New comers to this year's team are Clyde Wrenn, Bob Prager, Buddy Grant and Jackie Smith.

Even though our baseball team was very successful, we were disappointed with the small attendance at the games. Our merchants backed us in an effort to bring out larger crowds. They bought game tickets and presented them to their customers. Coach Shealy was well pleased with his boys this year. They defeated the following opponents: Lancaster, Winnsboro, Fort Mill, York, Clover, Clinton and Laurens.

To single out individuals who played outstanding ball would be naming almost the entire team. Such talented players, however, as Wayne Sullivan, Duck Mobley, Butler Nanney and Dean Gaddy contributed much to the team's success.

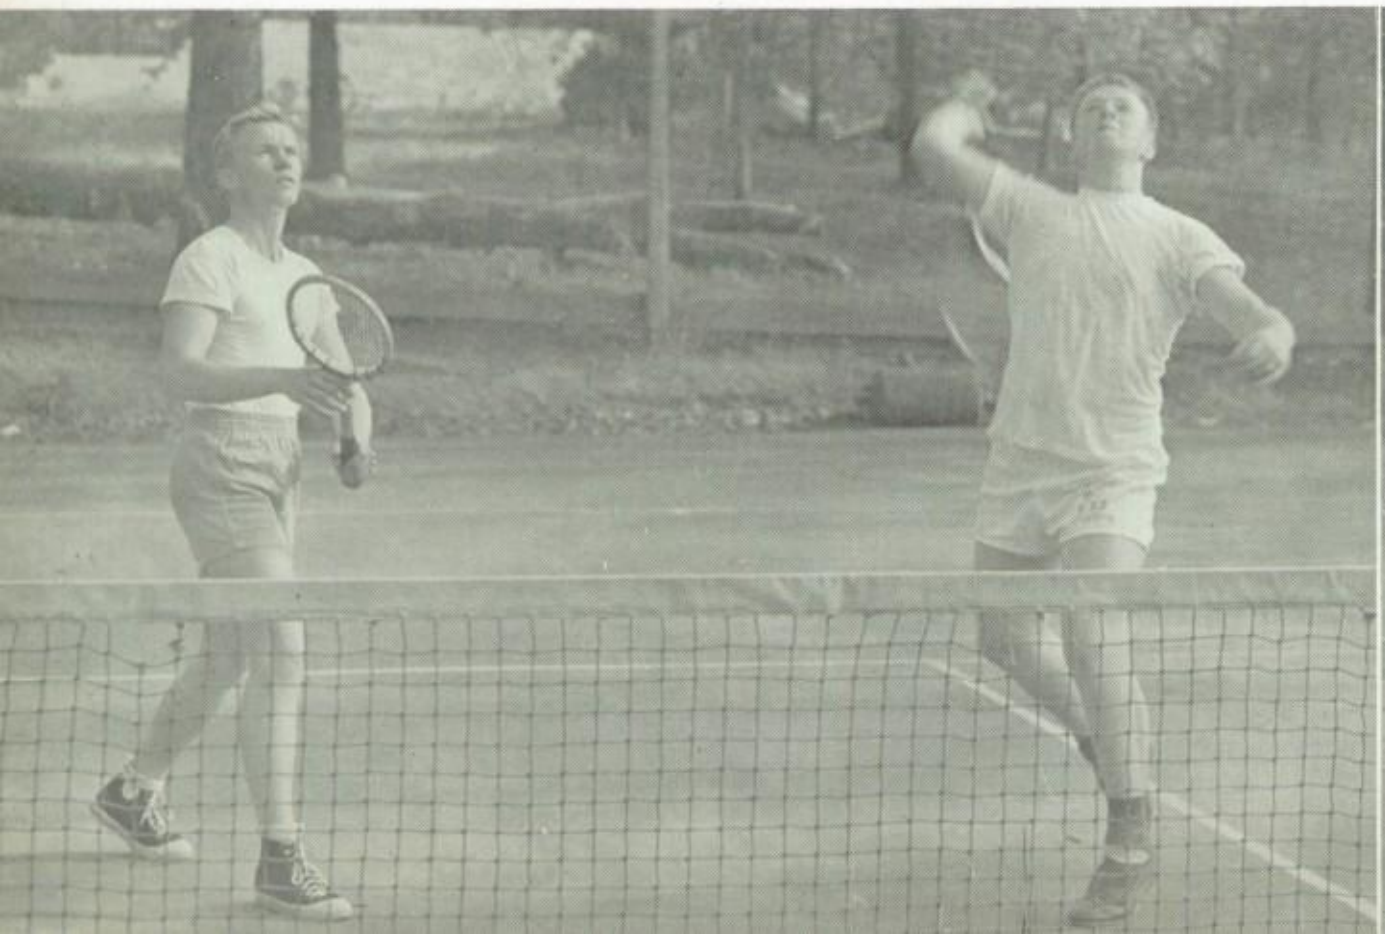
TENNIS

For the first time in its history, Chester High School fielded a tennis team. This team, composed of three seniors, a junior, and a sophomore had a terrific undefeated season, going to the state tournament heralded as one of the best. During this tournament Carroll Grant attained the quarter finals, Billy Heath and Jimmy Hamilton won their first matches and the number one doubles team of Carroll Grant and Jimmy Hamilton won their first quarterfinals match.

Returning this year are Billy Heath and Jimmy Mann, bolstered by a strong group of young players.

Heath prepares to slam as Lynn looks on.



Grant is elated over putting it away as Jimmy backs him up.

The golf team of Chester was coached very successfully this year by Mr. Tom Brown. The team consisted of one senior, two juniors, and two sophomores. They won eight games while losing only two. The team made its annual appearance in the state championship contest. They led the tournament for the first day but were forced to take a second under the much stronger team of Florence. They won over Chester by only 12 points. All of Chester's players rated among the top ten in the individual scores. There was a field of 179 players.

Growing Up

With Opportunity

"While you've been growing up and getting educated," opportunity has been growing, too. All around you, industry and business have multiplied. Electrification has increased farm yield, while cutting down on labor and risk.

When you were freshmen, the Duke Power Company was beginning new plants to supply your power needs after graduation. Now ample, low-priced power increases your job opportunity, and Piedmont resources are ready for your energy and ideas. Good luck to you as you find your place in the Piedmont Carolinas.

Take Me With You . . .

Leaving home for another school year? Then think for a moment how you can keep well informed on what's news here while you're away. No letter can match my ability to keep you up to date on local matters. Think about it no further, the thing to do is to receive each issue of . . .

May you have the best of luck this year

Now We Bring The Mill To The Farm!

Our "on-the-farm" feed service mixes your favorite formulas—from your home-grown ingredients—right before your eyes.

Provide your stock with fresh mixed feeds all year round, yet save money, too!

Our on-the-farm Feed Service brings the mill right to your yard. Before your eyes we grind or mix your feed from home-grown ingredients —anything from corncobs to hay. Molasses? Our mill on wheels blends it in as easily as a duck swims. Profits small, business great, that's the way we operate. Write or phone today.
